

Social Media Policy

---

MCGT Social Media Communities include MCGT, Facebook page, and Twitter account.

MCGT is pleased to provide forums for sharing and interacting with others about giftedness. The viewpoints, opinions and actions expressed in comments are those of the individuals themselves, and may not reflect MCGT policies or positions. Always verify information with a qualified professional before taking action.

Our goal is to provide an online community where people with all kinds of views, theories, and concerns can express themselves, can share information, and can interact with one another. Contributors may be asked whether messages or stories shared on this site may be used in other MCGT marketing activities.

Please review the following abbreviated online community guidelines regarding your responsibilities and MCGT's role in the community. If you wish to read the complete policy, each item includes a link.

- Keep all posts civil, be respectful. Keep comments on topic.
- Protect your privacy. Do not include identifying information. Ask before sharing or reposting outside of the group.
- Do not discuss others.
- For profit posts are limited to maximum of twice every 3 months.

Links to Other Websites. MCGT is not responsible for the content of any linked Web site, or any link contained in a linked Web site, or any changes or updates to such Websites. The inclusion of any link does not imply endorsement by MCGT of that Website. In addition, please be aware that MCGT is not responsible for the privacy practices of such other Web sites. MCGT encourages you to read the privacy statements of every Web site that requests personal information from you.